THE NATIONAL COMMISSION ADJOURNS AFTER A SESSION OF THREE MONTHS-FRENCH CIVIL ENGINEERS ENTERTAINED

A PARLIAMENT OF RELIGIONS.

RELIGIOUS WORKERS FROM EVERY LAND IN CON-VENTION-A REMARKABLE PROCESSION.

Chicago, Sept. 11.-The most remarkable of the great series of the World's Congresses that have been held in Chicago this year, and in many respects one of the most extraordinary conventions that the universe has ever seen, was begun this morning in the presence of an immense audience in the Hall of Columbus. It was the World's first Parliament of Religions, a series of union meet-ings with the object of uniting all religions against all irreligion, and of presenting to the world the substantial unity of many religions in the common aim of religious life. Upon the platform and in the body of the hall Christians sat next to Buddhists. Brahmins beside Greeks, followers of Confucius with high priests of Theosophy, Deists from Bom-bay and Calcutta with the primates of the Catholic Church in the new land. For seventeen days the period each denomination will occupy the time assigned to it in setting forth the principles of the faith it holds and the service it has rendered to mankind. There will be no controversy or comparisons, and attacks are strictly prohibited. Peac. on earth and good will toward man will be the ruling principle. Denominational differences will be forgotten and each participating body will constitue to the forgotten and each participating body will constitue mortuary memorials, from the badly lettered tomber of the constituence of the co tine himself to affirming its own faith and achieve-

THE ARMY-THE DUKE'S GAL-LANTRY AT TEL-EL-KERIR.

London, Sept. II.—in the House of Commons to-night James Henry Dalziel (Liberal), Member for Kirkcaldy, moved a reduction of the vote for the salary of the Duke of Cambridge as Commander-in-Chief of the Army. The motion was made for the purpose of attacking the appoint-ment of the Duke of Connaught to the Aldershot command. Mr. Dalziel said that the appointment was an injustice to Lord Frederick Roberts, commander of the Indian Army, as well as an injury to the general interests of the service. He had been informed that the Duke of Connaught did not live in camp and that he delegated many of his active duties to his chief of start.

Lieutenant-Colonels Warde and Lockwood, both retired Army officers, defended the appointment Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Secretary of State for War, said that the Duke of Connaught had been selected by the Duke of Cambridge, subjecto his approval. Those above the Duke, he said, were either on the verge of superannuation or performed their present dathers no well that it was inexpesitent to remove them.

Edward Stantope (Conservative), formerly Secretary of State for War, supported the appointment Sirst fairles Dilke (Radica) said he did not question the fitness of the Duke for the place, but he opposed the appointment because he thought it ought to be given to an officer who was likely to companied by her foreign-looking husband, to whom the was married in Paris early in the summer; the Misses Welling, who were with their big, goodnatured brother, Richard W. "THE COCK-OF-THE-WALK" PENNANT. The following statement is made in regard to the fast steam-yacht Feiseen, by Captain Peter Crow-ley, master, and Henry Stanwood, pilot, of that vessel:

After the yachts were well under way, the Vamoose being some three miles ahead of the feet, the Felseen gave a short exhibition of speed, and then started to chase the Vamoose out to sea, overtook her, and then made a complete circle around her, after she had gained a quarter of a mile. When the Feiseen had passed the Vamoose, the Vamoose changed her course until almost at right angles to that of the yachts. After the Feiseen had secured a long lead she turned toward the salling yachts, running slow, so as to keep along with them. Meanwhile the Vamoose came around and made directly for the lightship, going an entirely different course.

The race between the Felseen and Vamoose, as can be seen, was not over any course, but merely a chase, the
